Casework Internships:

Position Description: Wisconsin State Senator Lena C. Taylor is seeking undergraduate and graduate student interns to intern in either her state Capitol or Milwaukee office for a minimum of 8 hours per week during the summer. These high energy internships are unpaid but will provide valuable political experience and helpful insight into state government. This is a fast-paced office with a great deal of opportunity to gain real experience in handling judicial casework and building community relationships. Previous interns have worked directly with constituents across the state in a variety of ways, including helping citizens re-enter their communities from prison, connecting constituents with community resources, and helping them to navigate state agencies and government bureaucracies.

Representing one of the most diverse districts in the state, this office offers interns the ability to work on many different issues and take the lead on issues and tasks that interest them most. If you care about social justice, education, or job creation, then this is the internship for you. An interest in a career in politics or public policy is welcomed, but not required.

Senator Lena C. Taylor is the 1,000th Wisconsin State Senator, 20th woman, 5th African American, 2nd African American woman and just the first African American woman to serve as the co-chair of the powerful Joint Committee on Finance.

Qualifications: Applicants should be well-organized and detail-oriented, as well as exhibit critical reading and writing skills. Applicants should demonstrate strong communication skills and a willingness to learn on the job. The ability to work well independently and as part of a team is a must.

Application Instructions: To apply for this position, please e-mail your resume, cover letter, and a three page or less writing sample to Aidan McMorrow at Aidan.McMorrow@legis.wisconsin.gov, with “Summer Casework Internship” in the subject line.

Application Deadline: Friday, May 3rd, 2019.
